

Why Become an RSW?

Registered Specifications Writer

CSC's RSW designation is a testament to the high level of knowledge, experience and judgment related to construction procurement a specifier possesses. The designation lends credibility to a specifier's participation in the construction process.

The program is designed for those who prepare or supervise the preparation of construction specifications. The RSW designation provides the specifier with a number of benefits, including:

- ◆ A greater understanding of construction specifications;
- ◆ The ability to improve the quality of specifications;
- ◆ Greater efficiency and proficiency in documentation preparation;
- ◆ A commitment to recognized standards of quality documentation;
- ◆ Recognition by peers, the construction industry and employers; and
- ◆ Client confidence knowing they have engaged the services of an RSW.

For more information on the RSW designation and its requirements visit www.csc-dcc.ca